

Seabirds: Life on the Edge

How is climate change affecting our seabirds?
What techniques have seabirds developed to live on the edge?
How can you get actively involved in conservation in Ireland?

Come to our conference to find out!

BirdWatch Ireland and RSPB's 43rd All Ireland Bird Conservation Conference
Friday 26 – Sunday 28 March 2010
Sligo Park Hotel & Leisure Club, Sligo, Co. Sligo

- Exciting programme of national and internationally renowned speakers, including Professor Chris M. Perrins
- Guided field trips to stunning local sites
- BirdWatch Ireland's expert conservation staff on hand throughout the weekend to answer your queries
- Workshops on how you can improve your survey skills and get involved in our nationwide conservation surveys
- Wings Shop, with a range of bird books, feeders, gift items and much more, as well as a special optics section to provide specialised advice on purchasing binoculars and telescopes, including practical demonstrations.
- Full weekend conference only €40, special student rate of €20
- Full programme: www.birdwatchireland.ie

Book Now!

☎ 353-(0)1-2819878

✉ info@birdwatchireland.ie

